Play castaway on the tiny but dreamy Cook Islands. Fifteen islands scattered over a vast swathe of Pacific Ocean, it could be one of the most beautiful places in the South Pacific. Effortlessly appealing, it's the classic island experience – powdery white beaches, turquoise blue lagoons, lush green hinterland along with a thousand years of Polynesian culture.

Rarotonga and Aitutaki, part of the Southern Group of islands, are the favourite holiday spots, along with lesser known but equally impressive Atiu, Mangaia and Mitiaro.

The islands of Rarotonga and Aitutaki are a mecca for relaxation. You can't help but wind down when your days are spent lazing on the beach with views beyond palm fringed beaches to incredible reefs. Hire a scooter and cruise through villages. Seek out the reef-fringed lagoon for watersports and glass bottom boat tours. Everything from mountain hiking to snorkelling spectacular lagoons is on the menu here, so start exploring!

Whether you're planning a short break, a romantic getaway or the ultimate family adventure, Air New Zealand Holidays can tailor-make your dream holiday. Use this brochure for inspiration, then let us help you create your adventure.

Discover the Cook Islands

History of the Cook Islands

Cook Islanders are true Polynesians; people of the poly (many) islands of the South Pacific. Connecting directly back to the finest seafarers of the vast Pacific, sophisticated navigation took them through vast ocean tracts in search of new lands and the Cook Islands came into being.

The great Polynesian migration began in 1500 BC when the islands were gradually populated by Maori ancestors who landed in their huge ocean going 'Vaka' canoes, guided by the stars and the power of Polynesian navigation. But the Cook Islands' origins are owed to the Polynesians who arrived in Rarotonga around 800 AD.

A couple of Spanish explorers sighted the islands of Pukapuka and Rakahanga in 1595 and 1606, then all was quiet in the Cook Islands until 1773 when the great explorer Captain James Cook sighted Manuae, Palmerston, Takutea, Mangaia and Atiu. In 1798 Captain William Bligh first sighted Aitutaki then following the very bloody Mutiny on the Bounty, the buccaneer Fletcher Christian sailed the Bounty into Rarotonga.

The first Christian missionaries followed some decades later in 1821 and although their arrival altered many of the traditional ways, the Cook Islanders managed to preserve their proud Polynesian heritage and blend it with their Christian faith beautifully.

The Cook Islands became an independent self-governing nation in 1965. The democratic government consists of an elected Parliament, as well as a House of Ariki or hereditary chiefs who provide consultation and advice.

Rarotonga

The island of Rarotonga is the vibrant hub of the Cook Islands. Almost completely encircled by a reef and clear, turquoise lagoon, the island is perfect for all kinds of watersports or simply relaxing on beautiful white sand beaches.

Try windsurfing, kite surfing or kayaking, see colourful coral and marine life on a glass bottom boat ride, swim, snorkel or dive the spectacular lagoon. Beyond the reef is deep ocean – the best of the diving and game fishing spots are all just a 15 minute boat ride away.

Rarotonga's interior is equally memorable. Lush rainforests cover high mountain peaks, forming a dramatic backdrop to the palm-fringed coastline. Walk across the island to refreshing waterfalls, take a 4WD or quad bike safari or tour a plantation before settling in for an amazing island feast.

Only 32 kilometres in circumference, the island is like one big resort and takes less than an hour to drive right around. There's no traffic lights and just two main roads, one following the coast past beaches and villages, the other an inland route through fields of taro and pawpaw.

Avarua, the Cook Islands' capital and Rarotonga's main centre, is the spot for shopping and drinks overlooking the harbour. Don't miss the Saturday morning Punanga Nui Markets for anything from fresh food to black pearls and brightly coloured homewares, including the Cooks' unique hand-embroidered quilts known as 'tivaevae'.

With over 50 cafés and restaurants available on the island, many in prime waterfront locations, taste everything from the best fish and chips you'll ever have to fine dining with a Polynesian twist. But a stay in the Cooks' is not complete without experiencing an Island Night feast and cultural show, held at a number of Rarotonga's resorts or one of the spectacular cultural centres around the island.

It's easy to unwind and chill out in the Cook Islands, relax with a simple massage under a swaying palm tree or indulge with a pampering treatment at one of the acclaimed day spas.

Aitutaki

Continue island hopping with a short 45 minute flight from Rarotonga over to idyllic Aitutaki. There's something magical about this place. Its lagoon must surely be one of the most beautiful in the world – 45 kilometres of crystal clear water filled with colourful fish, turtles and coral, its perimeter sprinkled with charming uninhabited islands (motus).

There are plenty of diversions to keep you on the island for several days. Snorkel, dive, kayak or swim the exquisitely coloured lagoon. Go kite surfing, wakeboarding or cruise to dazzling white sand motus for a picnic lunch.

Beyond the reef are opportunities for scuba diving and deep sea fishing. In the lagoon bonefishing is top of the list of must do activities, while further out to sea, tuna, marlin and barracuda are all on the game fishing menu. Divers are also well catered for with great coral reefs and marine life.

Naturally romantic and relaxing, Aitutaki entices couples and those in search of seclusion from the outside world. Catch a water taxi to your own private islet for a day and do nothing but snorkel, relax and eat.

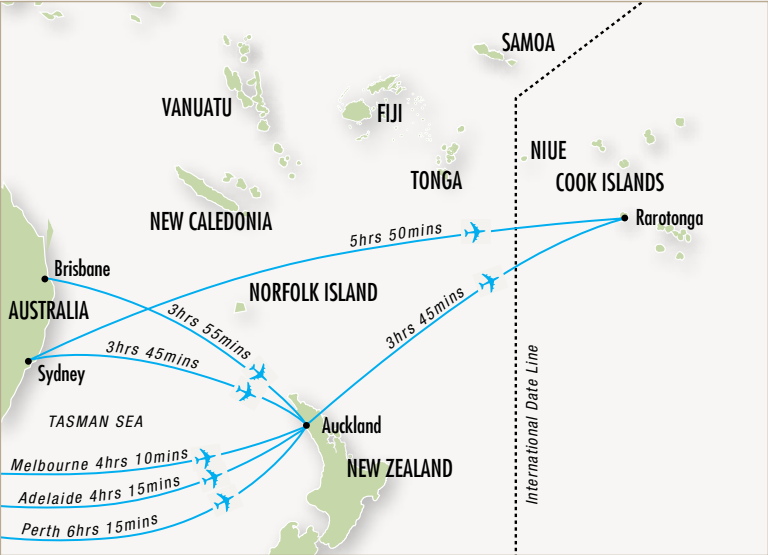

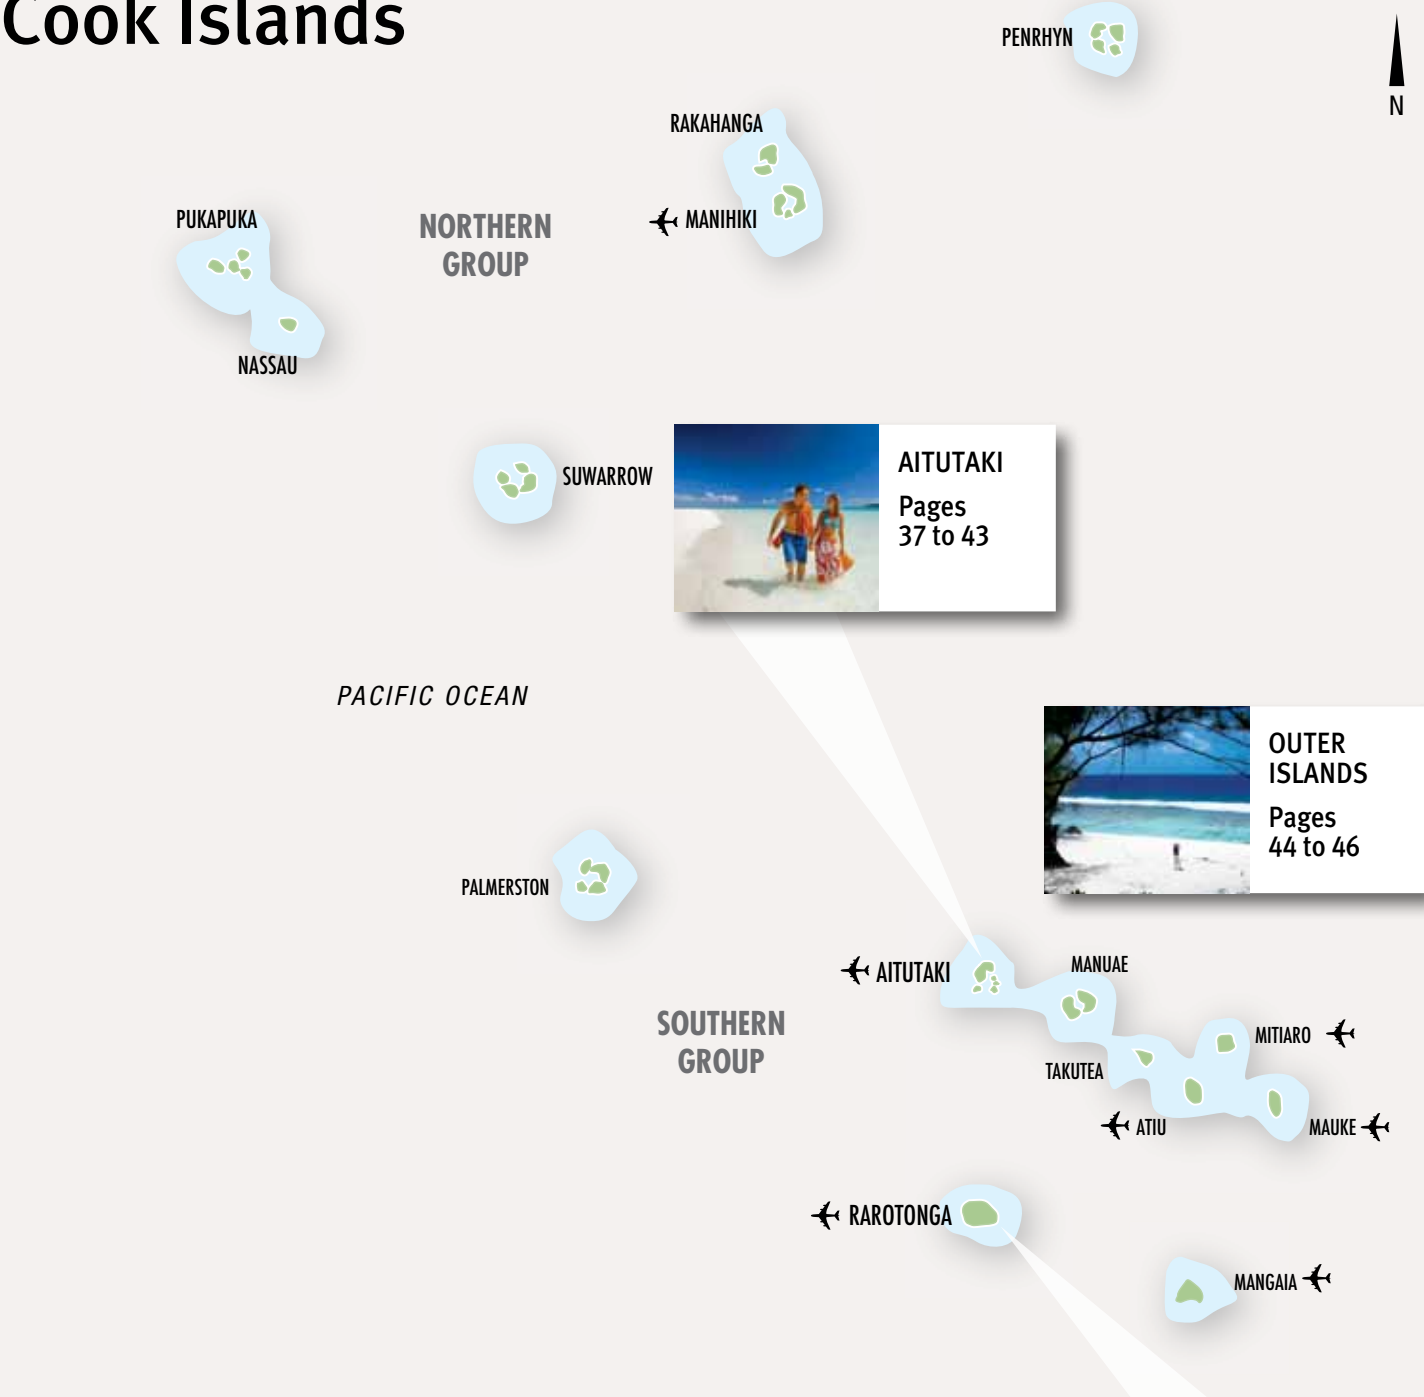

Hike to the top of Maungapu for panoramic island views or jump in a bright yellow jeep for an island safari. Learn the history and culture of the Aitutakians on a day tour or meet the locals at church or the market. There are only 2,000 residents in this little piece of paradise. Short on time? Take a day trip from Rarotonga including a lagoon cruise and visit to One Foot Island. But get a taste for this holiday haven and you may never want to leave.

From luxurious resorts with facilities catering to your every whim, to quiet beachside bungalows that will sweep you away from it all, the Cook Islands will have you on island time before you know it.

Outer Islands

Rarotonga and Aitutaki are the well known islands of the Cooks but don't miss out on the adventure of the 'Pa Enua' – the Outer Islands. While it may not be possible to tick off each of the 15 in one trip, discover the diversity and simplicity of life in Atiu, Mitiaro and Mangaia and immerse yourself in nature, local life and a whole lot of fun!

3. Arts, Crafts and Black Pearls

Handcrafts are highly prized in the Cooks. Among the best-known souvenirs are the intricately woven rito hats, brightly coloured pareu (sarongs), wooden carvings, pate (drums), ukulele and tivaevae (hand-stitched quilts). The most romantic souvenir of course is the cultured black pearl. Avarua, Rarotonga's capital has a great selection of speciality shops and not to be missed is the colourful Punanga Nui Market held every Saturday morning. (see page 16 for details)

4. Fishing

Try your hand at game and sport fishing. With fishing areas just beyond the reef, the action commences as soon as you leave the boat harbour. (see page 15 for details)

5. Visit a Traditional Village

For water lovers the Cooks' is an aquatic playground with a wide range of activities to enjoy. Learn the art of stand up paddle boarding or kayak to a deserted motu. On Rarotonga hire a windsurfer, kite board or catamaran and head to Muri Lagoon for some laid back sailing.

8. Scuba Diving

Dive with the friendly Aitutaki turtles, who love to have their tummies scratched! Divers enter a whole new world in the Cook Islands – fantastic visibility and incredible coral reefs bursting with marine life make the Cooks' the best kept secret in the South Pacific. (see page 38 for details)

9. Aitutaki Lagoon

Make sure you tick Aitutaki Lagoon off your bucket list. With its sparkling turquoise lagoon decorated with 15 motu (islets) and emerald green main island, this is undisputedly one of the most magnificent lagoons in the world. Be sure to mail a postcard and even get your passport stamped at the world's smallest post office on motu Tapuaetai (One Foot Island). (see pages 14 and 38 for details)

10. Sunday – day of rest and worship

Must See & Do

Take a glass bottom boat cruise around Muri Lagoon

Buy a pareu (sarong) at the Saturday morning Punanga Nui Markets in Avarua

Walk the Cross Island Trek through the heart of the island

Visit a Cook Islands Christian Church on Sunday for incredible singing

Rarotonga is the resort. Take a tour of the Cooks' main island and you'll never be short of special places and spectacular scenery. Start at Rarotonga's main town, Avarua. A bustling, friendly, centre of activity, you'll find restaurants, cafés, shops and business facilities here, along with the airport just five minutes drive away. The Punanga Nui Markets, held every Saturday morning are a must do, offering everything from flower garlands, fresh fish, fruits and vegetables, to black pearls, rito hats and colourful pareus (sarongs).

One of the most stunning lagoons on Rarotonga is at Muri Beach. It's the spot for watersports including sailing, kayaking and swimming. You can also try your hand at windsurfing and kite surfing, thanks to the tradewinds from May to November. Four coral islets are a pretty addition to the lagoon – Koromiri Islet is the pick for weddings. A few bars, restaurants and shops on the beach provide all you need for a relaxing break.

Great snorkelling and swimming spots are never far away on Rarotonga. The south coast from Titikaveka to Vaimaanga and Aroa Beach have lovely wide, long beaches and the deepest lagoon on the island, making it one of the best for snorkelling and all-tide swimming. In Titikaveka town you'll also find the Cook Islands Christian Church. The locals singing at Sunday service is an island experience not to be missed.

Aroa Lagoon Marine Reserve, a breeding ground for tropical reef fish, provides another location for fantastic swimming and snorkelling. In fact you'll be spoilt for choice for fabulous spots along the whole west coast, a long stretch of sandy beach ending at Black Rock. Expect spectacular sunsets from this side of the island.

Rarotonga's mountainous interior, rising to 653 metres, provides a stunning contrast to the coast's aquatic wonderland. There are plenty of opportunities for action and adventure here, from guided walks to 4WD and quad bike tours.

One Foot Island, Aitutaki

Must See & Do

Snorkel or swim among the tropical fish of Aitutaki Lagoon

Visit the uninhabited One Foot Island

Try scuba diving and deep sea fishing just beyond the reef

Hike to the top of Mt Maungapu

Meet the locals at church or the market

Hire an outrigger canoe and paddle to the nearest private motu

Watch the fire dancers at a cultural show

Learn how to make an ei katu (floral head dress)

Featuring on many 'must see' destination lists, Aitutaki boasts arguably the most idyllic lagoon in the world. A vast expanse of crystal clear water scattered with uninhabited white sand islets frames the palm-fringed main island. It's the quintessential tropical island scene.

It doesn't get better than Aitutaki for experiencing the relaxed Polynesian way of life. Spend a few days here and before long you'll be operating on island time. For those with more energy, there's everything to do on or in the water; days are spent snorkelling, swimming, diving or kayaking. Learn to windsurf or kite surf, or try stand up paddle boarding. Fly fishers will love the opportunity to seek out the elusive bonefish. Cruise to snorkelling spots and tiny islets (motus) such as gorgeous One Foot Island. Send a postcard from the island's post office, it's the world's smallest. Or visit Honeymoon Island – a long stretch of sand permanently under 20cm of water.

For those that like their own patch of paradise, catch a water taxi or hire a canoe and paddle out to the nearest motu for a picnic on your very own stretch of beach.

The lagoon takes centre stage but there are plenty of other options to divert your attention. For the best views on the main island, it's an easy 30 minute walk to the summit of Mt Maungapu, Aitutaki's highest point (124 metres). Delve into the region's history on a cultural or 4WD tour or experience the showmanship of the Aitutakians at a cultural show. The high spirited, hip swinging performances of the drummers and dancers are unbeatable.

Outer Islands

Mangaia

Beyond the lush ‘Fantasy Island’ setting of Rarotonga and even beyond the turquoise dream that is Aitutaki lie 13 other islands of the Cooks. Collectively, all islands beyond Rarotonga are called the Pa Enua – Outer Islands – but to clump them together is to underestimate the variety of beauty, landscape and experience that is waiting the more adventurous traveller. These are islands where it is possible to get a rare glimpse into the simplicity and beauty of life as it once was, laid back, surrounded by nature, and connected to community. There are three islands that are only a short 45 to 50 minute flight from Rarotonga but a world away. All three are coral atolls that have been thrust out of the ocean by volcanic activity creating the ‘makatea’ or coral platform – creating a very different landscape and a honeycomb of caves.

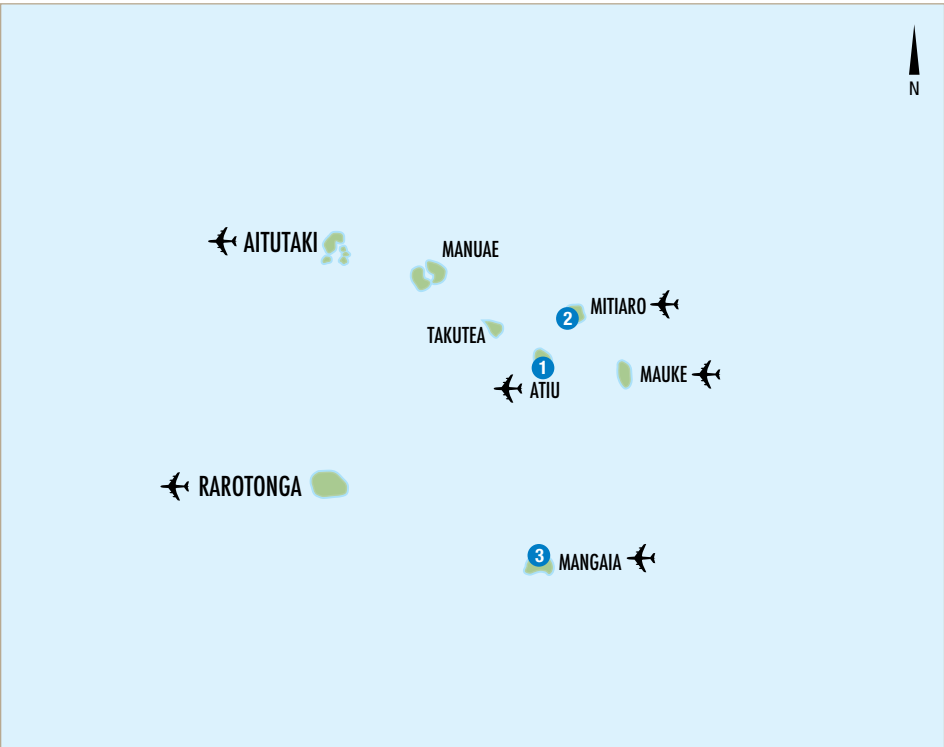

Atiu, with its exotic birdlife hiding amidst the jungle is an island of wild rainforest, distant, birdcalls, stunning beaches and cave dwelling birds – nothing is what you expect! Ancient Marae (communal or sacred place) have been uncovered and are being restored; giant ferns clings to huge trees above as you walk, cycle or drive the roads around the island; huge stretches of beaches beg to be explored. Birdman George is a must to meet – the name says it all. At night, join in the Tumunu – a local tradition of joining together at the end of the day over a coconut shell of orange ‘beer’ in the bush.

Mitiaro is the smallest island of the Southern Islands group, with less that 150 residents. It’s a land of mischievous fun loving people who welcome visitors to their little island with humour and generosity. Stay in bed and breakfast accommodation in traditional style huts connected to family homes – a true local experience. Explore Vainauri, a hidden pool filled with cool clear water for swimming among stalagmites and stalactites or Te Vai Marere known for its healthful, healing properties.

Mangaia is the oldest island in the Pacific and its towering double makatea rises sharply from the clear Pacific waters until it reaches the middle of the island. Here, a hidden garden awaits, it is an island of concealed coves, huge cave systems and a bird watchers paradise – an island of contrasts, of harsh beauty and of adventure!

Must See & Do

- Spend the evening at the Tumunu, a local tradition on Atiu
- On Mitiaro swim in the cool depths among the stalagmites of Vainauri
- Bird watch at Mangaia’s Lake Tiriara
- Watch one of the Mamas weaving a special Mitiaro mat
- Wander Atiu’s rainforest and explore the caves
- Explore the island of Mangaia by bike
- Learn about the endangered Kakerori birds and the historical sites of Atiu with Birdman George
